

We all want our kids to be great readers...

Read a Book, Earn a Book makes it easy!

What do I do?

Select a book that is very interesting to your child.

Tell them you will read it together, a little at a time each day, and that they will “earn” it when they reach the last page.

Each day help your child read 3-4 pages; record your progress in the Reading Log.

When your child finishes reading the last page, write a nice note on the title page and give it to your child. They have now earned their book!

IMPORTANT!

Your child only gets to read the book when reading with you, this approach will make reading a special treat.

How do I help my child read?

When you start the book, tell your child that you want them to use their “powerful reading finger” to point to each word as they read. This helps them pay attention.

Tell your child that if they pause over a word, you will say the word for them, and that they should repeat it right after you. This helps them learn new words quickly.

Encourage your child to ask questions about any words they find new and interesting.

IMPORTANT!

Have FUN reading!

We all want our kids to be great readers...

Read a Book, Earn a Book makes it easy!

What do I do?

Select a book that is very interesting to your child.

Tell them you will read it together, a little at a time each day, and that they will “earn” it when they reach the last page.

Each day help your child read 3-4 pages; record your progress in the Reading Log.

When your child finishes reading the last page, write a nice note on the title page and give it to your child. They have now earned their book!

IMPORTANT!

Your child only gets to read the book when reading with you, this approach will make reading a special treat.

How do I help my child read?

When you start the book, tell your child that you want them to use their “powerful reading finger” to point to each word as they read. This helps them pay attention.

Tell your child that if they pause over a word, you will say the word for them, and that they should repeat it right after you. This helps them learn new words quickly.

Encourage your child to ask questions about any words they find new and interesting.

IMPORTANT!

Have FUN reading!

We all want our kids to be great readers...

Read a Book, Earn a Book makes it easy!

What do I do?

Select a book that is very interesting to your child.

Tell them you will read it together, a little at a time each day, and that they will “earn” it when they reach the last page.

Each day help your child read 3-4 pages; record your progress in the Reading Log.

When your child finishes reading the last page, write a nice note on the title page and give it to your child. They have now earned their book!

IMPORTANT!

Your child only gets to read the book when reading with you, this approach will make reading a special treat.

How do I help my child read?

When you start the book, tell your child that you want them to use their “powerful reading finger” to point to each word as they read. This helps them pay attention.

Tell your child that if they pause over a word, you will say the word for them, and that they should repeat it right after you. This helps them learn new words quickly.

Encourage your child to ask questions about any words they find new and interesting.

IMPORTANT!

Have FUN reading!

We all want our kids to be great readers...

Read a Book, Earn a Book makes it easy!

What do I do?

Select a book that is very interesting to your child.

Tell them you will read it together, a little at a time each day, and that they will “earn” it when they reach the last page.

Each day help your child read 3-4 pages; record your progress in the Reading Log.

When your child finishes reading the last page, write a nice note on the title page and give it to your child. They have now earned their book!

IMPORTANT!

Your child only gets to read the book when reading with you, this approach will make reading a special treat.

How do I help my child read?

When you start the book, tell your child that you want them to use their “powerful reading finger” to point to each word as they read. This helps them pay attention.

Tell your child that if they pause over a word, you will say the word for them, and that they should repeat it right after you. This helps them learn new words quickly.

Encourage your child to ask questions about any words they find new and interesting.

IMPORTANT!

Have FUN reading!